

CALL FOR PAPERS

Global Institute of Flexible
Systems Management

Springer

Global Journal of Flexible Systems Management announces

Special Issue on The Future of Manufacturing Global Value Chains, Smart Specialization and Flexibility!

Guest Editors of the Special Issue

- Dr. Renu Agarwal, University of Technology Sydney, Australia
- Dr. Maruf Hossan Chowdhury, University of Technology Sydney, Australia
- Dr. Sanjoy Paul, University of Technology Sydney, Australia

Editor-in-Chief:
Prof. Sushil
IIT Delhi, India

Introduction to Special Issue

Global Value Chains, Smart Specialization and Flexibility are the backbone of the world economy. Increased volatility, unprecedented technological advancements, and geographical dispersion have made global value chains more complex, interdependent and more vulnerable. In an increasingly unstable business landscape, flexibility is essential for global value chains whether services or manufacturing. Future flexible value chains - a nascent field in management theory – have attracted much interest – and are adept at preparing, responding to and recovering from unexpected disruptions whilst maintaining the continuity of business operations.

Scope and Coverage:

- Agility, Technology and Flexibility
- Corporate Social Responsibility/Life Cycle Thinking
- Global Value Chains (GVCs) in a Changing World
- GVCs and Industry Clusters
- Innovation Management and GVCs
- Innovative Manufacturing and Smart Specialization
- Management Practices in GVCs
- Micro Multinationals and SMEs, role and relationships in GVCs
- Services, Efficiency and Productivity of GVCs
- Sustainability and the Circular Economy
- Systems Integration, Coordination and Alignment
- Technology and data analytics

Submission Details:

Articles submitted to the journal should be original contributions and should not be under consideration for any other publication at the same time. Authors submitting articles should follow the submission guidelines of Global Journal of Flexible Systems Management for preparing the manuscripts. Submissions should be sent to the guest editors of this special issue via the journal's editorial manager system (link below). All papers will undergo double-blind review following the journal's normal review process and criteria. Accepted papers not included in the special issue will be published in a regular issue of the journal.

Last date for paper submission: October 15, 2017

Notification of first round of review: November 30, 2017

Re-submission due date: December 15, 2017

Editorial follow-up by: December 30, 2017

Volume to be published by: March 05, 2018

Submission site: <https://www.editorialmanager.com/jfsm/>

Details of the journal and its Editorial Board: <http://www.springer.com/journal/40171>

Contacts for this special issue

Renu Agarwal (renu.agarwal@uts.edu.au)

Journal office (jfsm@springer.com)